Wisconsin National Guard Cavalry Units May Be Abolished

COMMITTEE CUTS STATE GUARD FUND HEAVILY IN BILL

$255,000 INSTEAD OF $600,000, PLAN IN MEASURE.

PERSONNEL OF 3,900 Figures Are Compromise Between Socialist Demand and That of Adjutant General.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—Reduction in the appropriation to the Wisconsin National Guard from $600,000 annually to $255,000, and in its enlisted strength from 6,900 men to 3,900, will be recommended to the legislature by the joint finance committee as a result of an executive session held Thursday night.

This cut represents a compromise between those favoring a much lower figure and those who would have a grant of $275,000. Senator Henry Huber, chairman of the committee, stood out for $200,000. Governor Blaine, who was in attendance urged the committee to allow $255,000. The latter proposal was accepted by a 7 to 5 vote, after an extended session.

Senator Walter Polakowski, socialist, said he expected the fight against any appropriation to the guard to be carried to the floor of the legislature. He is understood to have argued for the termination of all appropriations to the state military organization.

Before agreement was finally reached, eight motions had been acted on by the committee, calling for amounts ranging from $200,000 to $275,000 as a grant to the guard.

Major Blaine's general's department says the proposed appropriation would mean a big slash in the state's military organization. The department expressed the opinion that this reduction should be made in cavalry and artillery units. It is probable, according to the department, that the committee that the cavalry will be abolished.

At least 2,000 men will have to be mustered out of service, the adjutant general's department estimates. "This cut in strength of from 7,000 to 3,000 men can be made only with the approval of the war department and may involve the future payment of federal aid to Wisconsin," Adjutant General Salomon pointed out.

It was learned Friday from members of the finance committee that a stormy session preceded final agreement of a majority of the committee members on appropriation to the guard. Senators Huber, Polakowski, Ruffing and Schumann are reported to be dissenting from the committee findings. They favored an even lower appropriation.

Agreement was reached that the 50 cents a day pay by the state, during encampments, should be discontinued.

HARDING REFUSES TO BE TANGLED IN OPEN SHOP ISSUE

PRESIDENT HAS NOT EXPRESSED HIMSELF ON SUBJECT.

Executive Will Not Take Sides on Delicate Question; Hostility Is Felt.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington.—Efforts to make the "open shop" an issue of the 1928 presidential campaign will fail—and the exclusive reason that President Harding will not be drawn into the controversy, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who summoned the Washington correspondents to his office to take a fling at the subject, is that the president is not to be drawn into the controversy.

Mr. Gompers heard not only through the newspapers but through other sources, however, that a good deal of the subject is being discussed in the "open shop" side of industrial warfare was being poured into the ears of Mr. Harding in the hope that he would take the subject to the employers and this assured himself of the solid support of big business in his next campaign.

Avoiding Taking Sides

The president, ever since his administration began, has been the object of letters and oral arguments relating to the controversies between labor and capital, but except for the comments made in connection with last summer's rail strike, he has carefully balanced every utterance so that neither side could take offense.

Mr. Harding did lose some of the support of the extremists on the right by the railroad executives of the proposal that strikers be taken (Continued on Page 2.)

VICTORY CLAIMED

Inability to Agree Declared Win by Defendant in Syndicalism Case.

St. Joseph, Mich.—Not once in 31 hours and 15 minutes of deliberation did the jurors in the trial of William F. Foster, Chicago, charged with criminal syndicalism, waver from the stand taken on their first ballot, voting each time six for acquittal and six for conviction, from about 10 a. m. Thirty-eight ballots were taken during the time. Mrs. Minerva Olson, the only woman on the jury, was one of those who voted for acquittal. Five of the six who stood for conviction are farmers. The other is a crossing watchman.

JANESVILLE MAY LOSE ITS CAVALRY

Independent Units Likely to be Abolished in Guard Cut.

Janesville may lose its cavalry troop if the state legislature passes the appropriation for Wisconsin national guard maintenance, is the fear held here by national guard men. This would mean a loss of more than $15,000 revenue yearly to the officers and men of the company and the city of Janesville.

Belief that the troop here may be abandoned is based on the policy which was followed out by the national guard officers, to keep the 32nd division intact and abandon the independent units, especially cavalry.

Capt. Ralph Harmon of the Tank Corps was in Madison Thursday conferring with Gen. S. G. Salomon, acting adjutant, and other national guard officers and he was assured that the tank corps will not be lost to Janesville, it being a divisional unit.

"I was told to go ahead and bring the company up to maximum strength, 105 men," said Capt. Harmon, "I was assured by Gen. Salomon that every effort will be made to save the 32nd division."

Janesville last year received for pay of the members of the Tank Corps and maintenance of the 32nd division $127,000. The present strength is about 65 men, Capt. Harmon having waited to be assured that the Tank Corps will not be disbanded.

Disbanding of the cavalry is officially known as Headquarters Troop of the 53rd cavalry brigade, and is attached to no division. The pay of the men amounts to about $15,000 a year for the 32 horses totals $10,000. At present there are 53 members of the troop.

Isolated Section Marked by Rum Running Activities During Winter.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York.—Miss Bessie McMahon of Buffalo and Mrs. Irene Blandino of Jersey City, N. J., were found murdered, with their throats cut, along an isolated roadside at Dongan Hills, Staten Island, early Friday.

The police believe they were murdered elsewhere and their bodies thrown from an automobile.

Miss Blandino, who had an artificial leg, was identified through the finding of a receipt for the limb. Miss McMahon had been visiting her at her home in Jersey City, N. J., according to the police.

The bodies were found on each side of a road in an isolated section. There are few houses in the neighborhood and the roadside is covered with brush.

The police recalled that the section has been marked by bootleggers' activities during the winter. A small creek, which runs through the area, is used to operate small boats, runs near the roadside.

Butcher Knife Found

Thirty feet from the roadside the police discovered, in a clump of bushes, a blood-stained long, thin butcher knife. The knife had its handle being cut, a slab wound was found in the back of each girl.

A receipt bill for a cork leg, made out to Mrs. Irene Blandino, Jersey City, N. J., was found in a fur coat worn by one of the girls. One girl was a blonde; the other had red hair.

The girls had been dead from four to five hours when found, according to physicians. There were no signs of a struggle at the roadside. The receipt was issued by John N. Escher, New York, artificial limb manufacturer.

Husband Questioned

Escher said Mrs. Blandino had told him that she was married four years ago when she was 15 years old. Her husband, a barber in Jersey City, told him last week, he said, that he had gone into the business of a fur coat maker. He was in the day both Blandino and his assistant, Brodyaro D'Leonzo, were taken to headquarters for questioning.

D'Leonzo said Mrs. Blandino and Miss McMahon went out about 8 p. m. Thursday, a short time after Blandino had left the house.

TUT CURSE THEORY
PURE BOSH, ASSERTS
U. C. EGYPTOLOGIST

Chicago.—A venomous insect's nip may have caused the death of the king of Carnarvon, and that mosquito or beetle may have made its home in the shadowy crevices of King Tut's tomb—but the only curse ever laid upon the poisonous creature was the instinct to bite when hungry or in self-defense when attacked. The ancient Egyptians didn't believe in having curses on people. They wanted to be generous to come. Their religion taught that there was room in the Egyptian heaven for all who passed the necessary entrance examinations. More opening of the tomb by an explorer like Lord Carnarvon would not hurt the ghost's chances. Hence there was no need for a spell or curse.

Comments on Death.—Of course, if the tomb had been that of a Babylonian king, or if, by any chance, King Tut was influenced by Babylonian mysticism.

But Prof. D. D. Luckard, expert in Egyptology at the University of Chicago and assistant to Prof. James Henry Breasted, who accompanied the Carnarvon expedition and may become its director, would not speculate widely in "ifs" and "happes." Saddened by news of Lord Carnarvon's death, deeply impressed by the importance to historians and archeologists of the Englishman's discoveries, the professor confined himself to what he believes are established facts, in commenting on the mysterious death of the now world-famous discoverer of King Tutankhamen's resting place.

Curse Theory "Pure Bosh."—"The curse theory of Lord Carnarvon's death is pure bosh," the professor said. "An Egyptian king wasn't worried about what men were going to do long after his death. He decorated his grave and ordered luxurious trappings to be buried with him so that those articles might placate the 42 gods whose approval he must win before his soul might find peace. His interests were purely spiritual."

"Most of the inscriptions found in the Egyptian tombs are biographical and an offering of the ruler's deeds to the gods. Some say, 'O ye who pass, hear in mine that a great man is buried here,' but none bear warnings or curses."

"In Babylon, of course, well, there was an American named Dier who, some years ago, left the American University at Beirut to study 'Babylonian' tombs. He was bitten by a fly and died within a few days. The Babylonian inscriptions often bear imprecations upon future molesters. But what is the significance to one who is not superstitious? Besides we are speaking of Egypt."

New Freight Cars too Wide for Old Tunnels

North Adams, Mass.—All the delays in freight shipments this winter have not been due entirely to blizzards and embargoes. Western grain shippers have found that some of their trouble in delivering their products in Boston arose from the fact that the large modern freight cars cannot travel through the Hoosac tunnel.

When this tunnel was constructed it was believed to be large enough to accommodate any railroad equipment, but the car builders have outstripped it. While the overseas cars are not yet over the tunnel, they are too large to service to necessitate frequent detours.

When one is found in a train arriving at the tunnel's western portal at 11:30 p. m., it is found to be out and sent to Bellows Falls, Vt., a detour of 35 miles, and then back to Deerfield, Mass.

New England Rich in Old English Bibles

Boston.—Bibles to be three hundred years are not uncommon in New England, where families have treasured the volumes for many generations.

One of these Bibles was printed in England in 1559 by "the deputies of Christopher Barker, printer to the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty." It is owned by Clarence Cheney, Jr., of New Bedford, and has been in the family for generations.

Another Bible, owned by Fred H. Harris, of Norfolk Downs, and published in London by Robert Barker, printer to the King's Most Excellent Majesty," in 1614, has been in the Harris family since 1630. Mrs. J. E. Laskey, of Marshfield, has a Bible of 1630, and Samuel J. Wilder, of Boston, has a copy of the Scriptures printed in Cambridge, England, in 1648.

Church Laidly Wants Part in Naming English Bishops

London.—The appointment of bishops in the Church of England, the prerogative of the prime minister, again has been attacked by members of the church.

The question was brought before a committee of the recent national assembly of the church, but no action was taken, although a large section of the church members urged that the matter be brought before the main body of the assembly.

The matter was again before the public at the recent convocation of the Lower House of York, when a motion was made that the church should have direct voice in the appointment of bishops.

At the dinner rose and cheered, Wisconsin.

JUDGE WAXES HOT AT REMARK ABOUT "SOFT" PUBLIC JOBS

One little remark dropped by P. C. Erdman, when arraigned in municipal court, Friday, for not attending school regularly, stirred Judge H. L. Maxfield to a high pitch of anger and caused him to give Erdman one of the most severe lectures heard in the court room in months.

"Why don't you see that your child attends school?" queried the judge.

And it was Erdman's reply that caused all the commotion. He said:

"Because I haven't got a public job where I can sit home and see that my son goes to school every day."

At this the judge jumped from his chair and moved toward Erdman, condemning him for his insolence, declaring him to have no breeding and warning him that he would be in jail until he changed his attitude.

The judge then fined him $50 and costs or 30 days but later suspended it on the grounds that Erdman's child attends school.

"If you don't, you'll go to jail," the court warned.

The judge accused Erdman of having insulted Miss Rosemary Bright, attendance officer, when she visited his home to see why the girl was not in school.

FRESH PRODUCE IS PLentiful

Strawberries from Florida and Other Tasty Fruits Seen.

Greenstuffs a-plenty will be in the market over the week-end, and many delicious dishes can be visualized from the variety of all sorts of fruits and vegetables being attractively displayed by grocers.

There are strawberries, which have been in the market for some weeks. Week-end prices had not been determined early, but no advances are looked for, and this popular fruit brought 50 cents per quart in most stores. There are blueberries, which bring 25 and 30 cents to the dealer and a taste of summer to the consumer. Other fruits in the market are bananas, selling for 12 cents a dozen; grapefruit, 5, 10 and 15 cents each, and still excellent in quality although the season for this product is coming to a close; oranges, at 45, 50 and 60 cents per dozen; lemons, at 40 cents per dozen; apples, four pounds for a quarter in most places, some stores carrying the fancier brands at higher prices.

Variety of Vegetables

There are many varieties of vegetables which will make excellent side dishes for the Sunday dinner. Cauliflower continues to top the list of these, selling for 20, 30, 35 and 40 cents each; while some of the late arrivals are green peas from California, 20 and 25 cents per pound, and asparagus, at 25 cents per bunch. In addition the windows are filled with such things as new cabbage, 3 cents per pound; celery, 15, 20 and 25 cents per bunch, and of excellent quality; green onions, 10 cents per bunch; spinach, 15 cents per pound; radishes, fresh, crisp and ready to eat, 10 cents per bunch; green beans, 10 cents per bunch; a little cheaper than radishes; head lettuce, immense heads, for 10 cents each; leaf lettuce, at 25 and 40 cents per pound.

Sweet potatoes are in the market for 25 cents for four pounds. Coccinillas cost 10 cents each, and many stores are handling fresh corn for 10 cents per ear. Other products, such as dried vegetables and fruits, remain the same in price.

Eggs and Butter Same

Eggs and butter are at practically the same mark as last week. Fresh eggs are plentiful and are selling for 25 and 30 cents per dozen, while the lowest price on butter this week is 33 cents per pound, two cents higher than last week's minimum price.

The sugar situation is a little more eased. Prices at large centers are said to be a little firmer, but this has had no effect here. There seems to be plenty of it available.

SEEK MORE ENTRIES FOR TON LITTER TEST

Letters were sent out this week by County Agent R. R. Glasco to invite breeders to nominate litterers for the Wisconsin ton-litter contest. Due to the sliding scale as compared to time, an April farrow has a good chance to win top honors.

"Rock county should win the ton litter contest," writes the county agent.

An effort will be made to inspect the litters nominated as soon as the roads are passable.

6,000 VOTES IN CITY ELECTION

1,000 More Than Cast for Governor—Few Changes in Canvass.

That it takes purely local political issues to bring out a big vote in Janesville was again demonstrated at the spring election Tuesday, when 6,043 electors cast their ballots in the city, nearly 1,000 more than the total vote for governor in the primaries of September, 1922. While the total vote in the city Tuesday was also 500 higher than a year ago when the city manager referendum was being voted upon, it was about 800 less than in the Welsh-Klein mayoralty contest of 1921.

The official canvass of the city vote, made this week by the council judiciary committee, composed of Aldermen Glenn L. Gardner, Thomas Spohn and George H. Esser, shows the first precinct of the Fourth ward was the heaviest poll, 822, with the Sixth ward next, having 712.

McCue's Vote Is Record

The total vote by precincts was: First ward, 514 in the first precinct and 603 in the second; total, 1,117. Second ward, 365 in first precinct and 417 in the second; total, 1,012. Third ward, 540. Fourth ward, first, precinct, 822; second, 657; total, 1,479. Fifth ward, 673. Sixth ward, 712. Seventh ward, 511.

The official canvass shows 4,956 for William McCue for councilman, the highest vote ever given a candidate for city office here. When City Clerk E. J. Sartell ran two years ago, with opposition, he received 4,955 votes, one vote less than McCue's total.

Jesse Earle, school commissioner-at-large, and Charles Lange, justice of the peace, both running for reelection without opposition, received 3,076 and 2,983 votes respectively in the election Tuesday, the canvass shows.

Few Changes Made

The official canvass differs but little from the Gazette's unofficial figures compiled on election night. The votes of eight of the 15 candidates for councilman remain unchanged, while most of the other candidates' votes showed increases of from one to 11.

The official totals of the winners are: William McCue, 4,956; C. Starr Atwood, 3,004; J. K. Jensen, 3,331; Boyd C. Gardner, 2,375; George A. Jacobs, 3,172; A. J. Gibbons, 3,150; Mrs. Emma H. Manning, 2,877.

The totals of the eight losers are: George J. Sonnet, 2,592; George H. Esser, 2,456; John C. Harlow, 2,434; John J. Dulin, 2,180; E. H. Ransom, 2,152; L. J. Cronin, 2,088; Glenn L. Gardner, 1,929; Carey Horn, 1,907.

The votes for Cronin, Dulin, Esser, Gardner, Gibbons, Horn, Jensen and Ransom were found to tally exactly with the Gazette's figures; Senett lost one vote, while the following candidates gained votes: Harlow, 11; Jacobs, 5; Mrs. Manning, 3; Atwood, 5; Gardner, 7.

School Commissioners' Vote

Of the 1,116 votes in the first ward, E. J. Haumerson received 557 for reelection as school commissioner, running without opposition. Two votes were recorded for George Woodruff.

In the Third ward Charles Mueggleton received 553 of the 540 votes cast for school commissioner, while P. J. Hammarihus got 287 in the Seventh. In the Fifth ward there was no canvass.

APOLLO THEATER MAKES EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

Redecorating and repairing in progress at the Apollo theater the past few weeks, has been completed, and will be on formal inspection the first four days of next week. All changes are in the auditorium of the theater and are of a nature to add comfort to the seats, as well as improving the general appearance.

On the main floor, seats have been repaired and put in the best of order. The orchestra pit has been remodelled, with the piano now in the center. A wooden partition has been erected in the rear of the last row, and paint and varnish have helped improve the general appearance. The proscenium of the stage has been painted a mottled gray and brown in place of red.

In the balcony, all the seats were taken up and entirely rearranged. They have been put in a semi-circle, making each seat comfortable and in full view of the entire stage. The boxes have been renovated; the partition removed, so that they are more easily entered. New paint and varnish is also in evidence here. Some changes are also being made in the scenery and property.

While the changes have not been general enough to necessitate closing the house, they have added greatly to the comfort of the patrons.

"Y" Asks Clothes for Russ Students

J. C. Koller, industrial secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., now collecting clothing for Russian students and professors, said that reports recently received from the Russian headquarters of the American relief administration emphasize the extreme gravity of conditions surrounding the thousands of young men and women studying in the universities.

"At least 60 per cent of the students have no private means and are given aid by the government," say the reports. "Odd-jobs are sought to provide enough money for bread. That they are able to exist at all is surprising, crowded as they are, in many instances, in unheated barracks and without a decent amount of warm clothing."

"Commenting on the future of relief work in Russia, Mr. Koller, is a widely reported letter to the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., pointed out that medical, poverty and reconstruction forms of relief will be desperately pulled upon the heatings of charity for many years to come and that the suffering of a great people must enlist the sympathy of every well thinking person."

Mr. Koller asks that contributions of clothing suitable for both men and women be sent in promptly in order that shipment may be made before May 1. Parcels will be mailed for it notice is sent to the Y. M. C. A.

"PUTTING IT OVER" GOES OVER WELL

Packed House Is Well Satisfied With Hi-Y Comedy.

Witnessed by an audience that filled every seat in the Myers theater, the Hi-Y club produced an excellent entertainment, Thursday night, in "Putting It Over." With every member of the cast taking his or her part with the ease of a professional, the play ran with a comparative smoothness that is indeed unusual in a home-talent production. But the audience appreciated what it was viewing was evidenced by the applause that came at the end of each act and frequently at some of the best lines.

Greater portion of the credit for the success of the play goes to the Hi-Y club, which produced an excellent entertainment, Thursday night, in "Putting It Over." With every member of the cast taking his or her part with the ease of a professional, the play ran with a comparative smoothness that is indeed unusual in a home-talent production. But the audience appreciated what it was viewing was evidenced by the applause that came at the end of each act and frequently at some of the best lines.

Each of the eight principals was excellent in the part portrayed. Francis DeShong, the leading man, spoke his many lines well and was a good type for the part. He played a double part, appearing only for a few moments as the beginning of Tom Browne and for the rest of the play as Jack Stewart, who mistaken for Browne, impersonates him in order to outwit grifters who had put a party on in the name of Browne for which he was responsible. Robert Earle, William Mills and Miss Lillian Anderson all had elderly parts. They were well made and took the parts with the proper dignity.

Morris DeShong was Dolton, the Butler and private secretary, and he, too, was good. The two leading women, Misses Jessie Ellis and Edith Fletcher, Miss Ellis as Eva Lou, daughter of Col. Lane, and sweetheart of Stewart, Miss Fletcher as Torrance, husband of Tom Browne, and the cause of much confusion, were both at ease in their parts and played with a naturalness that added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Goldwin Hallet was good in the minor part of Dainty.

The play had much comedy and several moments of drama at the climax, especially well handled by Miss Ellis and Mr. Mills. Comedy was furnished more by the confusion when Torrance claimed Stewart as a husband, and when Stewart first impersonates Browne, than by any comic acting.

Golden Eagle furnished the many stunning gowns, suits and dresses worn by the feminine members of the cast, and to the head of the organization, A. Leath and Co., by supplying furniture, Miss Helen King and Russell Aigner for aid in the make-up; to P. H. Knobel and R. C. Brown, aiding in the ticket sales; and to Miss Eunice Nelson, the Rev. J. Plane Makers Sued for Millions

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington.—Alleging conspiracy to destroy his business, James V. Martin of the Martin Aircraft factory, Long Island, filed suit under the Clayton act here late Wednesday to recover $51,513,000 from the Manufacturers Aircraft Association, Inc., 27 other corporations and 33 individuals.

OLD ROAD BATTLE SETTLED AT LAST

An old road controversy that dates back 20 years has been settled—or at least decided—in the relocating of highway 134 running from Evansville to Brodhead.

The state highway commissioner ordered that the route be changed to a point one-half mile straight west on the upper Albany road to the county line, and down the boundary line, between Rock and Green counties, to Brodhead. Land owners east of Albany for years have been disputing which of the two roads should be favored as a trunk line.

The temporary road runs down to the section 22 of Center township and then west. Rock and Green counties will join in the rebuilding of about four miles on the re-located road.
